To the Editor:

Everyone who has been victimized by the excessive noise and everyone who has been cheated out of their hard-earned money by the bankruptcy are on to the sleazy tactics by the owners of the NJMP to trod all over us for their gain.

They don't want to be good neighbors when it comes to curtailing the awful noise.

A good neighbor doesn't screw a business and cheat them out of money owed to them.

They don't really care about us little guys. For after all, who are we? We don't have the $$$$ clout behind us.

Whether or not the track goes belly up as a business is of little concern to the owners; for they will still have the land.

How much more are they going to get away with while we all lose value (money) on our properties, lose the precious quality of life we so dearly enjoyed and lose capital in our local business ventures?
